

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact:
Susan Haberer
The Saint Louis Brewery
2100 Locust Street
St. Louis, MO 63103
314-241-BEER
shaberer@schlafly.com
www.schlafly.com

Schlafly Beer Celebrates Cask Ale and Icelandic food and music

What: The Schlafly Tap Room's Cod and Cask Festival
When: Friday, February 6th 5pm-Midnight
Saturday, February 7th 5pm-Midnight
Where: Schlafly Tap Room
2100 Locust
St. Louis, MO 63103

January 8th, 2009—St. Louis, MO--Schlafly Beer, Icelandic USA and Icelandic Naturally are once again bringing the Cod and Cask Festival back to St. Louis. Aside from fish and chips, the Schlafly Tap Room will be serving several cod specialties. Renowned Icelandic chef, Chef Hakon Ovarsson, will fly in to prepare Icelandic cod favorites for the event. Schlafly will also be serving cask-conditioned beer along with regular Schlafly favorites.

Schlafly Beer and Icelandic USA will be bringing the Icelandic USA World Record Fryer straight from Iceland to fry up "Codzilla V", the largest serving of fish and chips in Missouri, for the fifth time. "Codzilla V" will be fried at a special VIP party on Thursday, February 5th.

Vicky will also be performing at the event. Vicky is an Icelandic rock band consisting of four rocking girls and one male drummer. In October, the band released their debut album, Pull Hard, which has received good responses from critics and listeners. They will play Friday with Kentucky Knife Fight and Saturday night with That's My Daughter. Local bands Kentucky Knife Fight open on Friday and That's My Daughter opens on Saturday. Starts at 9pm both nights in the Club Room. Show is free, so don't miss it!

For more information about Vicky, please visit www.myspace.com/vickypollardmusic.

The Schlafly Cod and Cask Festival is brought to you by Schlafly Beer, Icelandic USA, Inc. and Iceland Naturally.

###

For more information about Schlafly Beer, please phone 314-241-BEER, or visit www.schlafly.com.